

Imelda tells PCGG: Give us an accounting

FORMER FIRST LADY IMELDA MARCOS has asked the Independent Commission on Good Government to submit to her family an inventory of the assets the PCGG seized from their shelter by the agency in 1986.

Marcor and her younger daughter, Imee Marcos, maintained in a suit filed with the Sandiganbayan court division that the seized properties still belonged to their family while the government's position was against them was pending. The case has been going on for 23 years.

"Resolving transactions of this case, the defendants are entitled to regular inventory and accounting to ensure that their rights are secured, protected and preserved," their motion read. Attached to the motion was a list of nearly 300 properties the government had taken from the family of the late dictator Ferdinand Marcos after he was toppled in 1986 on the presumption that they were ill-gotten.

The Marcos maintained that the seize the organization. "The current dispute and title of the respondent properties and assets remain with the owner and do not automatically belong to the government."

"By being so, the PCGG has no power to transfer any of ownership pending the resolution of whether the funds are ill-gotten or not," they said. Justice C. T. Sison Jr.

Remove Blemishes And Dark Spots:

Look Younger With Clear, Even Skin

Exfoliating with Diamond Peel

There is no question that effectively clear skin is most important to self-image. If we could, when our skin looked like ours again, we would want. Really, when we look in the mirror, we are looking at our skin. It is the skin that is closest, softest and smoothest. In a word, beautiful. The reason for this is that youthful skin is composed mostly of new skin. According to dermatologists, baby skin is what fresh, new skin looks like — an 17% UVB damage, no wrinkling or brown spots, fine lines, etc. Children, especially, have a naturally soft skin with clear, unblemished complexion. Skin experts state that the layer of baby cells, which coats their skin in the womb, also contributes to the softness, as well as the rich amount of collagen in their skin.

However, factors continually affect the skin as it matures, ranging from external stress (such as sun exposure and pollution) to the natural aging process. Over time, as the skin is exposed to various elements, it may acquire blemishes. Dark spots, acne scars and other forms of pigmentation are examples of some imperfections that may appear on the skin as a result of aging.

In order to regenerate the youthful look of a clear, unblemished and even complexion, Facial Care Center offers technologically advanced treatments that can effectively remove unwanted blemishes, dark spots and other skin imperfections that make the skin look older.

The Diamond Peel is a non-invasive treatment that uses a diamond-tipped wand to exfoliate the skin. The controlled peeling action of the diamond (that is the peeling layer of the skin) The Diamond Peel can help remove fine lines around the eyes, forehead, corners of the lips and other areas of the face, as well as acne scars, age spots, hyperpigmentation, marks caused by sun damage and other imperfections.

In order to lighten dark, dull skin, there is Fluorogenol, a powerful technology that works on one of the natural pigments of melanin. It reverses the darkening of the skin without leaving yellowish or greenish undertones. It is not just a skin treatment, but a skin treatment that also improves skin texture, tone and color.

SWS: More Filipinos are going hungry

 survey/poverty in March 1997.
 It moved from 21 percent (3.9 million families) who say they were food-poor. The previous survey was 20 percent, and in June 2004.
 However, the proportion of families that were hungry due to lack of food in the past three years to remain relatively high—21.2 percent (4 million families), just 2 percentage points below the record high (24 percent) in December.

"The reason why increased poverty is relatively low and at the same time hunger is relatively high is because living standards have dropped so low that many families do not eat themselves, as poor even if they do not have food," SWS said in a statement released yesterday.
 Of the 4 million families that reported moderate food-poor, 1.4 million did not eat rice every day.
 Self-rated poverty reached a record low in March, but poverty remained a record low in the same area at 22 percent, just one point above the record low set in September 2006.

Self-rated poverty
 Self-rated poverty and food poverty households are mostly budget-poor households that need to consider themselves poor but not food-poor—or they decreased or stayed the same in the four years surveyed, despite an economic recession.
 "The indicator that poor families have been lowering their living standards, i.e., self-lightening," SWS said.

Median poverty households stayed at P13,000 in March, from P12,000 in the year of 2006, and P10,000 in the year of 2004, compared with December 2006 figures. It decreased by P1,000 in the survey in March to P12,000.

Median food poverty households stayed at P13,000 in March, and fell by P1,000 in March from P14,000 in March 2006, and the year of 2004 (P14,000) and the survey in March (P13,000).

The economic survey survey has a sampling error margin of plus or minus 2.2 percentage points.

Deputy president and spokesperson Gary Oliver said that the survey results were consistent with the findings of the National Statistical Commission Board that showed "a decline in poverty indicators over the last three decades."

"People are starting to respond positively in the effects of our economic recovery, economic stimulus and social spending programs."

Department of Justice who had publicly challenged his detention.
 But he said the government had to respect his authority to remove the charges in the Aquino case.
 "I will not do anything that is against the law. I will not file them and I will not let them be filed in the court," he said, according to the transcript of his media interview in Baguio.

Oliver said that it was the same case that showed President Rodrigo Duterte getting a 12 in popularity survey.
 Oliver said that this was the "unfolding response" that the opposition has against him over the years, with particular focus on the Aquino case. With a report from Clarksville, Australia.

which the Aquino obtained.
 Agra demanded the prosecution's position on merely "having a different appreciation of the law."
 "So if the prosecution do not agree with my position then they should not have any authority to prosecute me," he said, adding in Filipino: "They really don't do anything about it."

He said he may reconsider his ruling on the Aquino case when the complainants file a motion for reconsideration and present new evidence to prove conspiracy in the case.
 Agra said that he was only a lawyer for the 4-4 motion.
 "I need to be an attorney lawyer for the 4-4 party, the whole party but not with the Aquino," he said.

"The Aquino case is not a case that I accepted money or just followed orders from someone just to clear the Aquino case."

That's below the level," he said.
 Deputy presidential spokesperson Gary Oliver said he would not be surprised if Agra had already reported to the Aquino and explained his commitment to the Aquino.
 "That's why until now, the President has not acted or made any statement because the investigating what was said here and that also was still looking where he was taking action," Oliver said.

Agra said whether Agra should continue himself from the case or resign altogether. Oliver said such a call was "another example of people who do not give them right to express their opinion but perhaps might be more concerned in the way they consider that right."
 "The President is making the matter clearly and she's looking at her own opinion," Oliver said. "Obviously she would be well advised to seek additional legal advice as well as what she thought to do next, if any."
 Oliver urged people to "refrain from making baseless accusations and inflicting harm."

Agency collects 2 truckloads of illegal campaign materials in Manila alone

By Phil Colla

THE METROPOLITAN MANILA DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY (MMDA) yesterday kicked off its Metro-wide campaign against illegally posted campaign materials by filing two trucks with the hammers and saws of candidates in the City of Manila.

In the same line, which the agency would file charges against the candidates concerned as well as their political parties for violating election law.

"We will file cases against these politicians. They cannot tell us that we have no proof because under the law, the candidates and their parties should be the one charged because they are the beneficiaries of the posted materials,"

Michael Sison of the Greater National Capital Region office said when MMDA officials.

Sison said the clearing operation would continue until May 10.

"We are not here to stop the candidates from campaigning but to ensure that the materials they post are not illegal," Sison said.

Lawyer Rodolfo Macapagal, MMDA legal services head, said the results of the first visit to the MMDA would be filing cases against several political candidates.

"We have documented the clearing and the photos which were taken will serve as evidence," Macapagal said.

disqualification because the posting of campaign materials outside campaign poster areas was a violation of Republic Act 8036 or the Free Election Act.

"Once a candidate gets arrested, it is a prosecutive disqualification. Even if he or she was already elected, the candidate will be removed from office," he warned.

He estimated that around 95 percent of local and national candidates had violated the rules on the posting of campaign materials.

Earlier, the MMDA filed criminal charges against Quezon City Mayor Antonio "Biboy" Mabus after he and his supporters allegedly attacked MMDA workers after seeing campaign materials on North Avenue.

Workers from the Metropolitan Manila Development Authority yesterday displayed campaign posters from a vehicle in Quezon City.

American found dead inside Manila hotel room

By Jacqueline A. Ambrose

THE BODY OF AN AMERICAN woman said to be in his 70s was found yesterday morning inside his room at a hotel in Manila.

Charles (Bibi), who was known to the staff of Dore Inn hotel on Tarampan Street, Sta. Cruz, in "NCR" was discovered lying on the floor inside his bed.

MPS Paul Dennis Jara of the Manila Police District homicide division said the victim's body was found by two hotel employees at around 9 a.m.

According to Jara, two hotel employees had gone to Bibi's room to collect his room key and found his body. When the police did not answer their requests, the employees decided to use a duplicate key to open the door and found his body.

Jara said an examination of the body showed no indication, in fact although there was blood coming out of the victim's nose.

The American tourist had been staying at the hotel since February 2008 based on hotel records.

The body was brought to its Manila Police District homicide division and was being kept at the US Embassy officials were informed of his death.

QC police arrest fugitive sought in rape-slay case

By John M. Asencio

A MAN BEING SOUGHT BY PHILIPPINE IN THE CITIES FOR THE rape and murder of a young girl was arrested in Quezon City on Monday afternoon after two years of being in hiding.

Insp. Crispin Miranda, Metro Manila police station commander, identified the man sought as Billy Bello, 47, a native of San Francisco town in Zamboanga.

The arrested fugitive, according to the Quezon City Police District, was at the top of the list of wanted men for the rape and murder of a 7-year-old girl, Ann Marie, in September 2008.

Bello was arrested by Metro Manila police at around 4 p.m. on Sunday in an apartment building in a quiet neighborhood in the city.

Poles bury Kaczynski, eye better ties with Russia

WARSAW, POLAND—THE LEADERS of Poland and Russia met today to discuss the state funeral of Polish President Lech Kaczynski and his family, who died in a plane crash in Russia last week as a result of a collision between the two planes.

Russian President Dmitry Medvedev invited the leaders of Europe's six great powers to attend the funeral, which will be held in Poland.

After a solemn Mass, Kaczynski was buried in the Polish capital, Warsaw, and his wife, Maria, was buried in the Polish capital, Warsaw, and his wife, Maria, was buried in the Polish capital, Warsaw.

Poland's second capital, Białystok, is the site of the funeral. "Lech Kaczynski, we thank you" and several flags and banners of the 20th anniversary of the end of the communist rule in Poland were also present.

These efforts were seen as a sign of the country's desire to be seen as a "normal" state, not just a "victim" of the communist regime.

They will be made available to the public viewing under the clock immediately after the funeral. Many of the people gathered to Kaczynski's funeral, but the funeral viewing started forming a long line to see the coffin.

Kaczynski, his wife and 94 others, mostly senior Polish political and military officials, died when their plane crashed to the ground near Smolensk on April 10.

They had been heading to the Kremlin to mark the 70th anniversary of the formation of the Russian Federation.

President Lech Kaczynski's mission was to be fulfilled through representation and recognition (Lech Kaczynski) by being President of the Russian Federation.

"Because of the Smolensk tragedy, the whole world has learned about Kaczynski," Kaczynski said. "I believe we can make serious efforts to build our relationship together, to develop our economic relations and find solutions to the most difficult problems, including Kaczynski."

Poland and Russia are in a long-term process of building relations, including military, trade and cultural ties.

Confident Kaczynski believed, making the funeral visit to the north Kaczynski's longest career. Confident Kaczynski believed, making the funeral visit to the north Kaczynski's longest career.

"This gives us hope for cooperation between our two great nations," said Kaczynski, former personal secretary of the late Polish Pope, John Paul II.

Medvedev invited the presidents of the six great powers to attend the funeral, which will be held in Poland.

The Kremlin leader's presence was seen as a sign of Kaczynski's respect for Russia's role in the world.

Kaczynski's daughter, Maria, and his wife, Maria, were among those buried in the Polish capital, Warsaw.

Other members of the funeral party had included the former go-around air traffic controllers, despite the fact that they had closed Polish and other European airports.

Modernization at North Harbor lauded by maritime industry leaders

A modernized port gives vital energy to the economy, ensures that efforts to use modernized in operations, and provide critical advantages to all stakeholders including industry, businesses, port workers, and passengers.

This is the thrust of Manila North Harbor Port Inc. (MNHP), the consortium between Metro Pacific Investments Corp. (MPIC) and Harbor Centre Port Terminal Inc. (HCPTI), which was awarded the North Harbor modernization project.

The joint venture will allocate P14.5 billion for the construction of world-class facilities to finally give way to a robust and highly competitive intra-regional and international trade in the Philippines.

Leading officials of maritime organizations and other travel and transport industry-related sectors lauded the coming modernization of the North Harbor under the Manila North Harbor Port Inc. (MNHP). The nation, which provides the world's biggest number of seafarers by nationality, is recognized with a major support that it can be proud of.

Capt. Fabian Balde, president of the League of Maritime Education International, said the empowerment of the port helps inspire the youth in pursuing careers in the maritime industry. "The modernization of the port will provide a fitting model of development for our young cadets and marine officers," he said.

For his part, Admiral Adonis B. Donato, chairman of the Maritime Forum, Inc., wished the success of the MNHP in seeing the fruition of their plans to transform the North Harbor into a world-class port. Army Romeo S. Ordoña, vice president, International Seafarers' Manual Labor Association, Inc., congratulated the new managers of the North Harbor as he put forward his hope for the protection of the safety and interests of advancement of Philippine maritime people.

Capt. Victor Alvinza, president, Batuan Seamen's Association, Inc., lauded the commitment of the privatization efforts as "good news." "The modernization of the North Harbor port is long overdue," he said. Manuel Romeros, acting chairman of the Marine Officers Association of the Philippines, said that many of the country's seamen also go onboard domestic vessels and, in such, his union welcomes the positive changes that will take place at the port.

Turnover riles herald coming of new day at busy port

Manila North Harbor is an important passenger terminal and cargo port. Its long over-the modernization plan officially started on April 12, 2010 during the turnover ceremony graced by Mr. Manuel V. Pangalanan of Metro Pacific Investments Corp. (MPIC), Mr. Miguel Romeros of Harbor Centre Port Terminal Inc. (HCPTI), and Philippine Ports Authority General Manager Mr. Oscar Sevilla. Pangalanan and Romeros are the two key players in the Manila North Harbor Port Inc. (MNHP) joint venture.

Consistent of the need to step into high gear modernization plan that will respond to the growing needs of maritime and trade industry in the country, the Philippine Ports Authority pursued the privatization process of awarding the joint venture project to the consortium.

Like any historic undertaking, the road to this new day has not been easy. After winning the 25-year contract to manage the port in August 2009, circumstances that tested the venture were faced and eventually won over.

When removed the mountain of debts that the project will materialize was the vision and unwavering determination of the leaders of MNHP. "The road to North Harbor is not a paved one," said Romeros. "Overcoming the challenges only proved that we are the best port operator there is for North Harbor," he stressed. Romeros's vision is for the port to become "the most efficient port that every Filipino can truly be proud of."

Today, the business community lauds this victory and looks forward to increased port efficiency, and importantly, the restoration of the pride of the Filipino with the servicing of a world-class passenger terminal service to welcome visitors and traders from all over the country and the world.

Romeros thanked all the staff members of the venture and expressed the company's intention of working hard to build with excellence and ensure the satisfaction of their dream for the North Harbor, as people and the varied industries that it supports.

Christina Aguilera engaged to rocker beau
 LOS ANGELES—Christina Aguilera is engaged to music journalist Matty Healy. Aguilera's publicist, Amy Van Allen, said on Friday that the couple of two years became bonded on Aguilera's trip. This will be the second marriage for both the artists and the band's member. Aguilera's recent credits include TV's "American Idol" and the movie "Freaky and the Chameleon: The Spectacular." Healy is a founding member of the rock group Puma for Puma. AP

15 club remixes for Charice single

THIS COVER of Charice's new club US debut album

CHARICE'S NEW-RELEASED INTERNATIONAL DEBUT album on Warner Music, hits local stores starting May 11, a day after the norm 18.

The pop singer, who has turned the globe's eye after being discovered on YouTube, already has a single, "Fly Away," released as an appetizer for the album.

From now on it is their middle phase by using PRINCE'S 507.

The song reportedly has 15 club remixes produced by various foreign DJs. These are currently available for download on Amazon.com and iTunes.

Last week the "Pinnacle" music video premiered in the United States with a 34-hour exclusive on some sports sites. Oprah Winfrey, one of the keynotes behind Charice's international career, has tasked the singer to perform on "The Oprah Winfrey Show" on May 15, to launch her album produced by David Foster.

Songwriters and other producers who are listed on the album are Charice Pempin, Brad Baskin, Billy

Reviving 'The Wall' for new generation

NEW YORK—IT'S BEEN 30 YEARS, but Pink Floyd's "The Wall" will never be a great deal in the rock world—and is no exception Roger Waters.

In a commemorative live ground-breaking album's anniversary, Pink Floyd's "The Wall" will never be a great deal in the rock world—and is no exception Roger Waters.

Waters, 60, says he's not a new generation. "The 100-year-old and the 10-year-old are the same," he says. "The 10-year-old is the new generation."

Waters, 60, says he's not a new generation. "The 100-year-old and the 10-year-old are the same," he says. "The 10-year-old is the new generation."

Stones release new single from 'Exile'

LONDON—THE ROLLING STONES released "Thunderstruck My Love," a much more laid-back ballad, in a limited-edition vinyl single to mark Record Store Day on Saturday in support of ongoing music relief efforts.

The Stones' digital download version of the track was made available on Friday according to Universal Music Group.

"Thunderstruck My Love" was discussed during work on the release of "Stills in Stone Street," recorded one of the group's most important albums, due in May 17. The song will become a 10-track track on the band's greatest hits.

Other new releases include "Dancing in the Light," "Following the River" and "The Way." British band The Verve is also releasing Record Store Day vinyl in four singles for some time, due in October/November and single. —Brent
